About Mariette

I've been positioning, packaging and prepping career seekers to make their next career move for nearly two decades. Clients come to me when they are just thinking about a change or have had change thrust upon them through a downsizing or sale. I developed the Career Transition Jump Start programs to provide a fast track to standing out in the marketplace.

Ready to Move Up or Out?

- Are you in the job market or just thinking about it and want to be packaged for your next opportunity?
- Did you get a call from a recruiter or learn about a new position that has you scrambling to reply?
- Are you stalled in your job search and want to re-energize your efforts?
- Are you ready to make the leap to a new career or a new, more powerful leadership role?

Whether you're an executive or a professional and your issue is one of these or something else, now is the best time to be positioned for success.

Maximize your market value.

Career Transition programs position, package and prepare you to maximize your market value. Depending on the program that fits you best, you will quickly get to clarity about what you're going for, connect with what sets you apart and assess your opportunities through a new and powerful lens.

Your new resume and LinkedIn profile will create a connection with employers and recruiters by focusing on the results your target market is looking for and that you can deliver.

You will be ready to launch your search utilizing my groundbreaking strategies and tactics developed over years of working with hundreds and hundreds of high achievers just like you.

Be ready for your next career move.

Career Transition programs take a comprehensive, branded approach to presenting your credentials to the job market. All elements of your work experience are evaluated and honed to position you to communicate a consistent, compelling message.
